Principles of Nomination of Plants in the Kartvelian Languages According to Folkore and Ethographic Materials

Summary

A certain part of the names of plants have a transparent etymology, and it is possible to find the principles of motivation of their nomination, they are largely connected with the feature of this or that plant.

Dialects of the Kartvelian languages represent the names of plants, the motivation of which is connected with the folk consideration of Christianity and the Biblical world.

The names of plants (and their folk etymologies too) preserve the specimens of the nation's cultural past and the folk thinking. From the standpoint of the interrelation of language and culture, the study of the material is rather interesting
