

GIORGI GOTSIRIDZE

SIGNS OF EURO-ASIAN MODELS IN THE GEORGIAN POPULAR DIET
(STRUCTURAL ANALYSIS)

In the following article I discuss the ecological and cultural-historical features of Georgian folk diet system. The zonal-regional structural analysis has been carried out in horizontal and vertical levels. Horizontally I consider two types: West and East Georgian; vertically: mountain, mountain foot and valley systems.

I draw the conclusion that East Georgia manifests affinity to Asia Minor type and the West Georgian system shows features of the Mediterranean civilization.
