
GIULI ALASANIA

SELF-IDENTITY IN MEDIEVAL GEORGIA

(WHOLE AND A PART)

The paper deals with a medieval structure of society in case of Georgia. In this regard the following questions are considered: conflict and competition as a condition for survival, physical and mental security, significance of borders, freedom and independence, education and patriotism, social inequality and loyalty, common people, unification and ethnic, religious and social diversity, interplay, interaction and efforts to preserve identity.