THE QUESTION OF SEPARATISM IN KONSTANTINE
GAMSAKHURDIA'S PUBLICITIC ESSAYS

K. gamsakhurdia's literary works are imbued with profound idea of the unity of the country.

The present paper discusses the writer's attitudes towards the autonomous formations in Georgian. The writer objects to granting autonomy on ethnic or religious motivations and supports the idea of territorial autonomies as of Sokhumi, Batumi, and Tskhinvali districts.

On the Megrelian question Gamsakhurdia reveals separatists who lead the Russian policy and with it threatened the unity of the country.
