

RUSUDAN PIPIA

NOVELTIES IN THE TEACHING METHODOLOGY OF GEORGIAN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE
AT PRIMARY CLASSES

Lessons of the Georgian language and literature at primary classes should serve to develop the pupils' critical thinking, creative and cooperative relations. The new approaches of study changed the directions of modern lessons. The new methodology of conducting the lessons considers a lot of nuances, which enables the introduction of interactive methods of teaching. According to National Curriculum six year primary education requires integrated teaching of the Georgian language and literature. Pupil-oriented teaching is expressed especially at the lesson of the Georgian language and literature, because there are more materials necessary for the activities in this sphere. Works of art and the elements of the native language give the chance for pupils' active participation in the teaching process.