

ONISE BANDZELADZE

ON RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN REALITIES OF LIFE AND ART

It has been widely acknowledged that the realities of life and art are absolutely different phenomena. There is no equivalence between the two due to the specificity of artistic thought even when describing adventures of famous personalities or discussing historical issues. At the same time, the reality of life itself is sometimes evaluated and expressed through a differing and contradictory point of view.

We believe, the proposed example is an interesting case of perceiving a character from different perspectives.